Providing that an application should be disposed of within a period of six months is distinct from stipulating the consequence of a failure to do so. In Chirakkal, the Division Bench did not notice the earlier judgment in Perinthalmanna. After referring to the provisions under the Kerala Co-operative Societies Act and the Banking Regulation Act 1949 the Division Bench held that the certificate of registration issued by the Department categorizing the assessee as Primary Agricultural Credit Society could be relied on solely to grant ...
